

MANFRA, TORDELLA & BROOKES
ANNOUNCES
PRECIOUS METAL IRAS

New York, New York, September 15, 2014:

Manfra, Tordella & Brookes, Inc. (MTB), announced today its new customer service offering for precious metal IRAs.

MTB customers who wish to have their retirement investment portfolio include precious metal products, can establish a self-directed IRA. IRS rules permit an IRA to hold non-traditional assets such as precious metals, but the IRS rules need to be carefully followed.

Customers select and open a self-directed IRA account with a custodian, purchase the precious metals for the account from MTB, and have the precious metals in the account stored in a depository. MTB has established relationships with several custodians and depositories to acquire gold, silver and other precious metal products for a self-directed IRA.

“In addition to traditional buy and hold ownership, the self-directed IRA provides another way for our customers to own precious metals,” said Scott Spitzer, Chief Operating Officer of MTB. “Customers can contact us to purchase precious metal products for a self-directed IRA.”

More information concerning precious metals in self-directed IRAs can be obtained from MTB’s website at www.mtbcoins.com, or by calling MTB at 1-800-535-7481.

Manfra, Tordella & Brookes (www.mtbcoins.com), part of the MKS PAMP Group, is a leading precious metals dealer that offers institutions and individuals the widest selection of international legal tender bullion coins and pure investment bars.
